Formerly a ballroom dance instructor, got the bug when she saw a square dance at an annual Cowboy's Christmas Ball in the early 1940s. Among the first women 'callers' in Texas, she studied under the late Dr. Lloyd 'Pappy' Shaw and has earned a reputation as one of the top callers in the entire country. Hundreds of students of all ages have attended her school in Abilene, Texas where her husband and children also became square dance enthusiasts. She has led and studied dances in Asia, Europe and Africa, and she helped organized the demonstrations for the Brussels World Fair.
